Product Introduction

The commercial shipping industry, which transports more than 80% of the world's cargo, is complex, volatile and constantly evolving. Although transports thorough air, road and rail have advanced significantly these days, but transport through sea is the most preferred mode of transport. Wherever cargo is transported, a wide variety of risks are present throughout the transport chain for the owner of the cargo (e.g. the manufacturer, trader or purchaser) as well as the transport route, ranging from loss and damage resulting from an accidents, an act of God, inappropriate handling, theft and robbery and, in the case of marine transport, general average. Insurance cover against political and social risks is also becoming significant.

Digit Marine Cargo Policy is designed to take care of the all the hazard and risk that the Property is exposed in the normal course of Transit.

Who Can Buy this Product?

This product can be bought by any person or entity involved in the business of movement of goods within or beyond the boundaries of the country, like manufacturers, buying agents, buyers, import/export merchants, sellers, banks, contractors etc. This can be sold to Retail as well as Commercial Customers.

What are the various types Cover that can be availed under this Policy?

The Assured will have an option to select coverage against any of the following:

- Specific Voyage Policy
- Open Cover
- Open Policy (Multi-Transit/Sales Turnover Policy)
- Stock Throughput Policy
- Project Cargo Policy

What is a Specific Voyage Policy?

As the name suggests, a Specific Voyage Policy covers a specific single transit only. The policy would be issued before the inception of the voyage and the Assured has provide complete details of the risk along with complete information about the bill of lading, vessel name, Type of Cargo, Packing Details, Voyage Details etc. The Cover under this Policy comes to an end as soon as the Cargo arrives at the destination.

Specific Voyage Policies suit to those businesses who do not often need marine insurance policies in the course of their business.

What is a Marine Open Cover Policy?

A Marine Open Cover is an agreement between the Insurer and the Assured who would be an importer or exporter. The Insurer agrees to cover all the shipments of the Assured, subject to:

- a. The Terms and Conditions of the Open Cover.
- b. The Assured declaring each and every shipment to the Insurer and getting the Policy Issued

An Open Cover is an improvement upon Specific Voyage Policy in the sense that the rates, terms and conditions for the shipments are agreed to in advance. The Assured usually places a Premium Deposit with the Insurer and for every declaration, the Insurer debits the deposit account with the Premium and issues a Policy Document.

The difference between an Open Cover and an Open Policy is that the Open Cover does not have an estimated Sum Insured, since it is only an agreement.

This is an Annual Policy.

What is a Marine Open Policy?

An Open Marine Insurance Policy is designed in such a way that it covers an indefinite number of overseas as well as inland movement of consignments. This insurance policy remains open until cancelled or the sum insured is exhausted, whichever comes first. Under this Policy, the Assured has to declare successive shipments and they automatically get covered under the Open Marine Insurance Policy on or after the Policy's Risk Inception Date.

It is an annual Cargo insurance Policy which is issued for single sum insured to cover a number of dispatches. Premium at the rate agreed is charged on the Estimated Turnover or Sum Insured. The Assured may choose to submit Monthly Declaration for all the shipments made during the Month. This Policy covers a number of dispatches until the Sum Insured is exhausted. Mid-Term enhancement of Sum Insured is possible on payment of additional premium. The open policy helps in saving the Assured from buying the individual insurance policy for each journey.

To ensure you choose the correct sum insured, make sure that the coverage mentioned under the open marine insurance policy is in accordance to the estimated annual turnover of goods.

The Two most important version of Open Policies are Multi-Transit and Sales Turn Over Policies (STOP)

This is an Annual Policy.

What is a Multi-Transit Policy?

Multi-Transit Policy is a single marine policy providing coverage to multiple transits of the Assured. This is done by describing under the voyage section of the Policy Schedule, all the transits, thus doing away with the need for having multiple open policies. The Assured would issue certificates of insurance where needed and submit a monthly consolidated figure for each type of transit. For example, the voyage description under a Multi-Transit Policy could read as below:

"Covering:

- a. Imports from anywhere in the world to Assured's warehouse anywhere in India.
- b. Domestic purchases from anywhere in India to Assured's warehouse or factories in India.
- c. Exports from Assured's warehouse or factories to anywhere in the world.
- d. Transit between warehouse or factories of the Assured in India."

The Sum Insured for Multi-Transit Open Policy will be estimated turnovers for each of these movements as shown in the Policy Schedule, which get depleted with the monthly declarations. Premium is charged for each of these transits usually at different rates.

What is a Sales Turnover Policy?

Sales turnover Policy is another version of Marine Open Policy which provides the seller to cover the risks that are associated with the transit of goods. The sum insured under this policy is the annual expected sales turnover and it covers all goods in transit whether its purchases, sales, imports, exports, returns, loading, unloading, intermittent storage, movement of goods from factory to depots or warehouses, warehouses to dealership, dealership to customer etc.

Estimated values for each of the transit are obtained and a rate of premium is worked out by the Insurer for each transit. However, the total premium arrived, is divided by estimated sales figure (Exports + Domestic Sales) to arrive at the policy rate in reverse manner.

The Assured does not have to declare individual transits or even consolidated monthly figure of each of the transits but the Assured is expected to declare only the audited/certified sales figure monthly or quarterly as agreed.

What is a Stock Throughput Policy?

A Stock Throughput Policy is a marine policy which combines the traditional transit exposure along with the storage risks of stocks under a single document in a seamless manner. Cover under a Stock Throughput Policy will be for:

- Raw Materials, Consumables, Stores and Spaces, Fuel, from the time they are purchased locally or imported till they reach the factories/warehouse of the Assured or the factories/warehouse of any job-workers, sub-contractors appointed by the Assured.
- Storage Cover for the entire duration the material lie at the above-said locations.
- Cover during the Process Phase or assembly line phase when the raw materials become work-in-progress/semi-finished goods and till the time they get converted as finished goods. While Stock-in-Process is covered, it must be noted that loss due to process risk is not covered. The Peril causing a loss to the Stock-in-Process should be external in nature.
- Movement of finished goods from the factories to the main warehouse for storage, cover during the said storage and subsequent transits within the country or abroad to customers, C & F agents or distributors, dealers, stockists or to Assured's branches/trading Arms.

This is an Annual Policy.

What is a Project Cargo Policy?

A Project Cargo Policy is a specialised cover that is offered to insure Cargo, mainly machinery and equipment, moved for Projects worldwide.

Project Cargoes are usually characterised by one or more of the following traits:

- Custom made machinery/equipment of significant dimensions and weight
- Cover usually requested upto final Project site, often involving significant inland transits on difficult terrain
- Damage or loss to certain identified equipment (Critical items) could trigger significant consequential loss (Loss or profits or Delay in start-up) due to delay in completion of project.
- Risk Management involvement

This Policy Can be taken for the entire Project Period.
