What is the NABH?

The NABH stands for the National Accreditation Board for Hospitals and Healthcare Providers. Part of the Quality Council of India, the role of the NABH is to promote a culture of quality healthcare, patient safety and accountability amongst hospitals. Hospitals accredited by the NABH ensure they meet the criteria for different parameters such as access, affordability, efficiency, quality and effectiveness of healthcare

Why is this list important?

All hospitals part of this list have been accredited by the NABH, i.e they all meet the minimum criteria of providing quality healthcare from all aspects. Given that our health is of our utmost importance, this accredited list of hospitals helps us choose the right hospitals for our treatments; be it anything from the common flu and infection to an accidental hospitalization or critical illness.
